Introduction to 2015 ICPA (11th)
—Sustainable Development for Public Administration

2015 年公共管理国际会议——可持续发展与公共管理创新

"Sustainable development is development that meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of nations and their people to meet their needs over the long term." The financial crisis of 2007-2008 had multiple effects on countries across the globe and, by extension, on governmental organizations. Many governments found that their expenditures rose dramatically in faltering economies as revenues dropped. Exporting countries found that exports declined, sometimes drastically. The boom and bust cycle can be incredibly wasteful. The consequences for public administration are severe as well. While countries could afford expanding government services in boom times—prior to 2007-2008—troubled economies have led to serious pressure to cut back in many countries. Officials of national, state and local governments all have felt the pressure of budget uncertainty and serious budget constraints. This comes in the context of growing realization that resources are finite; we cannot simply consume scarce resources, and especially in ways that generate costly such unsustainable byproducts as pollution and climate change.

The 2015 conference seeks to address the problem of managing governmental organizations with an eye both to the short and longer term. For the short term, what can public administration teach policymakers and government managers about sustaining public services in the face of sometimes severe economic and policy cycles? For the longer term, how should policymakers and government managers address the need to avoid less expensive short-term approaches to providing public services in favor of long-term more sustainable approaches?

The Proceedings 2015 International Conference on Public Administration (11th) encompasses a wide-ranging analysis and examination of excellence and innovation in public administration research and practice. The Proceedings contain a rich and broad collection of ideas and research findings directed at sustainable development for public administration. Authored by academics and practitioners worldwide, the collection promises to advance public administration research and practice. There are six sub-themes—Public Administration for Sustainable development, Good Governance, Performance and Smart Government, Networking and Partnerships and E-government, Public Management, Future in Public Administration.

The submissions of 2015 International Conference on Public Administration (11th) have amounted to Six Hundred and Three pieces from both China and abroad, including more than one hundred pieces submitted by foreign experts, scholars and practitioners to both School of Political Science and Public Administration of University of Electronic Science and Technology of China and American Society for Public Administration. After peer reviews by 2015 ICPA Academic Committee, the papers collected in Proceedings of 2015 International Conference on Public Administration(11th) (Volume I and Volume II) are Three Hundred and Eight, which offer a wide array of new knowledge and information on subjects that public administrators and scholars should find of some valuable and practical uses.

The 2015 International Conference on Public Administration(11th) brings together an array of authors and topics drawn from many countries and regions and attracted international interest in and inquiries from scholars and public administration practitioners in Australia, Belgium, Brunei, Canada, China, France, Germany, India, Indonesia, Japan, Macao SAR of P.R.China, Mauritius, Nigeria, Netherlands, Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Russia, Singapore, Somalia, South Africa, South Korea, Vietnam, United Kingdom, United States. The Eleventh International Conference on Public Administration was truly international.

Welcome Message to 2015 ICPA from Ahmad Heryawan, Governor of West Java Province, Indonesia

印度尼西亚西爪哇省省长 Ahmad Heryawan 欢迎宴会致辞

Welcome to Bandung, West Java government expresses gratitude to Faculty of Social and Political Sciences, Padjadjaran University (UNPAD) for hosting the 11th International Conference on Public Administration (ICPA) from December 9 to 11, 2015. The conference has attracted scholars and public administration practitioners from many countries and regions in Australia, China, India, Indonesia, Macao SAR of P.R.China, Nigeria, Netherlands, Philippines, Russia, Singapore, Somalia, South Africa, South Korea, Thailand, United Kingdom, and United States. UNPAD is one of the biggest universities in Indonesia residing in West Java province, and has long historical bound as well as professional connection with West Java government. West Java is the most populated province in Indonesia with 43 million people inhabiting total area of 3.6 million acre. Therefore, the sustainability issue is exceptionally urgent with the tremendous population pressure. The conference topic is closely related with West Java government vision to enable the West Java local government and its stakeholders adapting the new local, national, regional and global development challenges. West Java government also exposes to the sustainable development issues and could not agree more that there is a need to encourage the awareness of all development stakeholders to realize that development resources are finite and scarce. I sincerely hope that this conference will strengthen the commitments of scholars and practitioners in public administration to sustain public services and build good governance. I hope this conference also would deepen understanding, equity, knowledge exchange among the participants in the context of global collaboration. I hope that you will make the most fruitful discussions in the international conference and have a great time in a historical city for Asia-Africa countries, Bandung, Indonesia!

Welcome Message to 2015 ICPA from Tri Hanggono Achmad, Rector of Padjadjaran University, Indonesia

印度尼西亚巴查查兰大学校长 Tri Hanggono Achmad 欢迎宴会致辞

Padjadjaran University, Bandung, Indonesia in association with the University of Electronic Science and Technology of China (UESTC), Chengdu, P.R. China and the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA), Chinese Public Administration Journal (CPAS), P.R. China, is delighted to host the 11th International Conference on Public Administration (ICPA) at Padjadjaran University, Bandung, from December 9 to 11, 2015.

Thus far, the ICPA conferences have been conducted in various countries including the UK, the US, Australia, India and South Africa, apart from P.R. China during the last ten years. These conferences have witnessed developments both in the theory and practice of public administration and their extensive application across the globe. We hope that many new ideas and innovative techniques will emerge from this 11th conference and that these too could be applied to various societies based on their political and historical context. The growing participation in these series of conferences reflects the sterling work of the organizers, especially UESTC and ASPA, which has helped to elevate the conference to world class status thus creating an ideal platform for research institutions, academics and practitioners of public administration to exchange their latest findings, share ideas and update their knowledge for further professional development.

The theme of the conference —Sustainable Development for Public Administration — has been carefully chosen to focus on sustainable development globally. Authored by academics and practitioners worldwide, the collection promises to advance public administration research and practice. There are six sub-themes—Public Administration for Sustainable development, Good Governance, Performance and Smart Government, Networking and Partnerships and E-government, Public Management, Future in Public Administration.

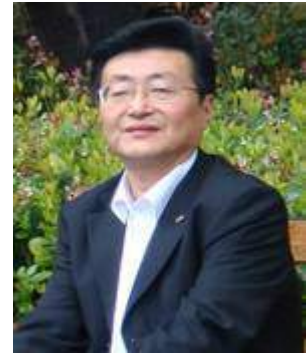

Due to time and space constraints, not all accepted research papers were able to be presented for 2015ICPA. Many eminent personalities will be delivering lectures at the 18 panel sessions during the course of the conference. The event will also include a Seminar on Sino-Indonesian Governance, a new addition to the ICPA conference series.

We, at Padjadjaran University, hope that you will make the most of this truly international conference, by participating fully in all the sessions, exchanging ideas and forging networks wherever possible. We also hope that you will take time to experience the beautiful city of Bandung.

Welcome Message from ICPA Chairs of UESTC and ASPA

公共管理国际会议主承办方主席欢迎致辞——电子科技大学 美国行政管理学会

On behalf of 2015 ICPA Organizing Committee, we'd like to invite and welcome you to the 2015 International Conference on Public Administration, which is to be held in Bandung, Indonesia. We are very appreciative to Padjadjaran University (UNPAD) for serving as our host university and for their support with organizing the 2015 ICPA.

As chairperson and executive chair persons of ICPA, we are extremely pleased to be able to organize ICPA Conference in Bandung, internationally recognized as one of the G20. Over the past ten years, we have alternated the ICPA venue; specifically, University of Electronic Science and Technology of China(2005), University of Warwick in United Kingdom (2006), the University of Minnesota in USA (2008) and, the Australian National University in Australia (2010), the Osmania University in India (2012),the Cape Peninsula University of Technology in South Africa. And, now, Indonesia for 2015ICPA! In 2005, The ICPA was initiated and co-sponsored by the Chinese Public Administration Society (CPAS), the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA), Moscow State University, Chinese Public Administration Journal and University of Electronic Science and Technology of China (UESTC), with CPAS, ASPA and UESTC sustaining the ICPA as standing sponsors since then. It is an international academic conference focused upon public administration, hosted annually by the School of Political Science and Public Administration of University of Electronic Science and Technology of China, and jointly hosted by an international university every other year. The ICPA has developed a strong legacy of scholarship and professional exchange. The ICPA is growing to become one of the world's most influential academic platforms in Public Administration research and scholarship.

Focusing on the theme Sustainable Development for Public Administration with 6 sub-themes, the concurrent sessions will address such topics as: Public Administration for Sustainable development, Good Governance, Performance and Smart Government, Networking and Partnerships and E-government, Public Management, Future in Public Administration . Students and researchers will have the opportunity for academic exchange, to share and debate on the key elements of their research. Scholars and practitioners from China, Indonesia and other countries will also participate in a special program, entitled the Sino-Indonesia Seminar on Governance.

On behalf of the ICPA Organizing Committee, we would appreciate your participation and wish you a fruitful conference experience. Please take advantage of the many opportunities offered as part of the 2015 ICPA. We know you will enjoy the 11th ICPA at Padjadjaran University in Bandung, Indonesia.

We hope you will have an intellectually stimulating conference, and a personally enlightening experience in captivating Bandung, Indonesia!

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION

Unpad now has collaboration with 135 International partners from 35 countries spreaded in Asia, Australia, Europe, America, and Africa. There are about 1170 international students mostly studying in the Faculty of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Indonesian Language, Legal Study, etc.

SCHOLARSHIP

Financial assistance is available to Unpad's students who experience economic difficulties. The funds are made possible through government and private agencies, the industrial community foundations and various other donors. Priority is given to students who demonstrate seriousness in study but having limitations in meeting living costs and/or tuition fees. Students may apply for scholarship through the Vice Dean of Student Affairs in their respective faculties by fulfilling the necessary requirements. For international students, Ministry of Research, Technology And Higher Education Republic Of Indonesia offers scholarship for Master and Doctoral Programs i.e. KNB Scholarship (Scholarship for Developing Country Partnership) and Scholarship for Indonesian Language, art and culture studies called Darmasiswa Program Scholarship consisting 3, 6, or 12 month program. In addition, through University to Univeristy partnership program, Unpad also offers scholarship covering tuition fee, then the scholars can look for sponsorship of living allowance and accommodation fee.
